ACKNOWLEDGEMENT
New Jersey Workers' Compensation Act

If you suffer an injury at work and are seeking coverage under your employer's workers' compensation policy, you must:

- 1. Notify your supervisor or designated employer representative of the injury as soon as possible.
- 2. All necessary and reasonable medical treatment, prescriptions and hospitalizations and services related to the work injury will be covered if the claim is accepted as compensable.
- 3. If the designated provider recommends invasive surgery, you are allowed a second opinion by a physician of your choice. If the second opinion differs from the first, you have the right to determine which course of treatment to follow, if the second opinion provides a specific and detailed course of treatment.
- 4. Physicians must accept payments as calculated under the New Jersey Workers' Compensation Act. You are not responsible for any payments in excess of the charges under the Act, unless your treatments are unrelated to the injury or are otherwise beyond the scope of your workers' compensation coverage.
